GP Practice

Hague

The project involved constructing a new building with an extra storey inside the existing listed walls. The practice accommodates six doctors and includes a waiting room on a mezzanine floor. The new decor exudes serenity and a sense of space. A mezzanine makes the waiting room light and airy, while the transparent reception desk opposite to the front door provides a good overview. A number of striking color and design accents create a warm atmosphere featuring brightly colored desks, couches and closets in the same red tint as the house style.
